What You Need to Know for Using Jumonville's Teambuilding Challenge/Ropes Course

What to Expect:

Would you like your group to work better as a team? Would you like to solve some physical problems as a group that is also going to take some good thinking and planning? If so, then our low elements teambuilding course may be just the right thing. Jumonville's teambuilding course is a series of individual and group initiatives created with wood, steel cable and ropes. The initiatives are designed to produce a unique recreational learning experience in a supportive atmosphere. Both the individual elements and program are geared toward planned success to build inner confidence, trust, team building through shared struggle, communication and accomplishment. Our course is physically engaging, intellectually challenging, spiritually stimulating, and tailored to the abilities of the participants. Physical ability is far less important than tenacity in the cooperative search for solutions and the ability to think creatively.

What Not to Worry About:

No need to worry about anything. Come with your sense of adventure and be prepared to play and learn together. Bring your sense of adventure and a willingness to give it your "best effort." That is all we will ask, but we will ask!

What to Wear:

Make sure your clothes allow for easy movement without being overly baggy. Tennis shoes or boots work best and open toed shoes are not allowed. We will be out in the fresh mountain air so make sure to dress for the weather.

What to Bring:

Depending on the season of the year, you may want to bring an extra layer of clothes. It is always easier to shed one layer than to be too cold. Water bottles for participants can be a great help.

What We Need to Know:

While we do not require a medical information form, we do need to know if any of the following conditions are present in your group: elevated blood pressure, any heart condition, seizure disorders, asthma, allergies serious enough to cause anaphylaxis, wounds, and/or orthopedic anomalies.
